

Kampala NOSES

Network for Odour Sensing
Empowerment and Sustainability

Invitation to 'Effective local action on Odour for Kampala' Conference, part of the launch of Kampala NOSES; Network for Odour Sensing Empowerment and Sustainability.

Kampala NOSES is a pilot project that seeks to introduce novel ways with which to monitor and record odour issues across Kampala, with a longer-term vision of implementing new environmental reporting and governance mechanisms that are accessible to all.

This will take place at Namirembe Guest House on February 12th 2020, 9.30 - 4:00 and is aimed at key stakeholders including:

- policy makers;
- environmental authorities;
- public sector administrators;
- public health bodies;
- academics;
- NGOs and CSOs;
- industries

It is being jointly run by Mapping for Change, a Community Interest Company based at University College London; Mapping for Communities, a Kampala based NGO, and Science for Change, a Spanish company, in cooperation with the EU H2020 D-NOSES project and support from Àrea Metropolitana de Barcelona.

Please confirm your attendance by either sending an email to Bernadette Uwase uwase.mappingforcommunities@gmail.com, by phone (0772 309930), or by registering via Eventbrite, so we can accommodate catering requirements. Please feel free to circulate to other relevant stakeholders.
